- (j) What are the key risks specific to the Notes?

The Notes are direct, unconditional, senior preferred and unsecured obligations of the Issuer and not of any other person. If the Issuer's financial position were to deteriorate, there could be a risk that the Issuer would not be able to meet its obligations under the Notes (the Issuer's credit risk), and Noteholders would not be able to enforce security as a method of recouping payments due under the Note. In such worst-case scenario Noteholders would lose all of their invested amount.

The Notes are not ordinary debt securities and Noteholders are exposed to the risks relating to an Underlying. Depending on the performance of an Underlying as well as certain other factors (including changes in currency exchange rates, changes in interest rates, time remaining to redemption, economic and market conditions, dividend rates on an Underlying), Noteholders, upon redemption, may receive less than the amount invested or nothing. Past performance of an Underlying is not indicative of its future performance and no investigation has been made of the financial condition of any issuer of any Underlying.

There may be no active trading market or secondary market liquidity for the Notes and the secondary value of Notes may depend on a number of factors. It is not possible to predict whether any trading market for the Notes will develop or, if it does, the price at which Notes will trade in the secondary market or whether such market will be liquid or illiquid. The value of Notes prior to maturity is expected to depend on a number of factors including, without limitation: (i) the financial condition and funding costs of the Issuer; (ii) the value, volatility and liquidity of an Underlying; (iii) the time remaining to maturity; (iv) any change(s) in interest rates and dividend yields and inflation rates; (v) any change(s) in currency exchange rates; (vi) economic and market conditions and (vii) any related transaction costs. As a result of these factors the price at which a Noteholder will be able to sell Notes prior to maturity may be less than the initial amount invested. Each of these factors interrelate in complex ways (for example, one factor may offset an increase in the value of the Notes caused by another).

An investment in the Notes is not equivalent to an investment in an Underlying. Ownership of the Notes does not confer any legal or beneficial interest or any voting or dividend rights in an Underlying and the value of the Notes may not exactly correlate with the value of an Underlying.

Disruption Events. Upon the occurrence of certain events (including an early closure of the relevant exchange, disruption of such exchange or suspension of trading on such exchange, an Additional Disruption Event, an Extraordinary Event and/or a subdivision, consolidation or reclassification of an Underlying, a distribution of dividend or extraordinary dividend or any other event that may have a diluting or concentrative effect on the theoretical value of an Underlying), valuations of an Underlying may be subject to postponement or adjustment or the terms of the Notes may be subject to adjustment and/or (in certain circumstances) Notes may be subject to early redemption. Any such postponement, adjustment or early redemption may have an adverse effect on the value of such Notes and/or the amount payable to the Noteholder under the Notes on redemption (as applicable). As a result, Noteholders may suffer a loss of some or all of their investments.

Illegality or changes in tax law may cause the Notes to be redeemed early. In such circumstances, the Issuer may pay a sum representing the fair market value of the Notes. As a result, holders of Notes will forgo any future appreciation in an Underlying and may suffer a loss of some or all of their investments.

Commission, cost of hedging and taxes may be borne by Noteholders. The issue price of the Notes may include fees, commission and hedging costs. Accordingly, there is a risk that, upon issue the price of Notes in the secondary market (if any) would be lower than the original issue price of the Notes. Payments under the Notes may be decreased to take into account the effect of taxes, duties or other similar charges and Noteholders will bear the cost of all taxes, duties or other similar charges payable in connection with the subscription, purchase or holding of such Note and any payments under the Notes (in each case including any taxes or duties imposed or increased by a change of tax law or practice).

Use and Estimated net Amount of Proceeds: The estimated net amount of proceeds from the issue of Notes will be EUR 1,500,000 less any re-offer spread or distribution fee (as described below). The net proceeds will be used by the Issuer for profit making or risk hedging purposes.
